SA Transgender Resolution At UNHRC Remains A Threat To Faith, Family & Religious Freedoms!

A huge thank you to everyone who wrote and requested the South African authorities withdraw the dangerous Transgender Resolution at the UN Human Rights Council (UNHRC) that redefines what it means to be male and female. The response was phenomenal.

Significantly, however, Family Watch International (FWI) reports, South Africa tabled an amended version of their Transgender Resolution at the UNHRC last Thursday that remains a threat.

FWI reports, “And while a few changes were made to the resolution to give the appearance of a compromise, the new draft still contains all the same highly problematic language.”

“One of the reasons South Africa has stubbornly pushed this resolution forward, despite intense opposition from around the world and even within their own African voting bloc, is because they believe they already have enough votes on the Council to pass it - regardless of opposition.”

Apparently, South Africa claims its UN resolution is about protecting intersex people in sport. However, the ambiguous language used in the resolution does not support this claim.

FWI proposed South Africa amend the resolution to ensure the language used therein cannot be manipulated to support transgenderism and redefine what it means to be male and female.

Tragically, South Africa has a history of voting against the natural family at the UN and supporting the radical feminist and sexual rights agenda. This does not reflect the majority value system.

During the past month, the ANC ruled government despatched a delegation to Venezuela to show its support for the embattled Nicolas Maduro regime – a country destroyed by failed socialist policies, has forged ahead with its downgrade of the Israel Embassy while cosying up to Hamas terrorists and is the only African nation to endorse and actively advance the radical abortion and sexual rights agenda and the diabolical Comprehensive Sexuality Education war on children.

The ruling party confirmed its party list of candidates for Parliament following the 8 May General Elections. Included in the list are names of ANC members implicated in corruption, fraud and maladministration. Also included are a former ANC mayor linked to the VBS Bank looting scandal.

ANC Secretary General, Ace Magashule – himself implicated in the Estina Dairy fraud – told the media, “none of the ANC officials fingered for corruption have been charged with any offence.” That’s because the ANC manipulates the NPA and law-enforcement agencies to protect its own.

South Africa needs change. The attacks on the natural family, the erosion of religious freedoms, the justification and protection of the corrupt and the perversion of justice demands it!

The rolling blackouts currently experienced by millions of citizens may be an indication of the nation’s slide into spiritual and moral darkness. You and I must ultimately determine whether we remain in darkness or restore the light of truth & righteousness in SA. Pray, Stand, Act!
